People along East Seventh St. may have been doing double takes the past few days when they heard a voice from overhead.

The voice belongs to a large crow, looking like a myna bird, which says something about "I can talk."

There is a talking crow in the Milano community, but no one knows whose bird the East Seventh talker is.

Eloise Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Henderson Jr. of 710 E. Seventh St., informed her mother Wednesday morning that 'a large black bird had talked to her.'

It proved to be the talking crow seen earlier in the week along the same street.

104-104-104

The bird is large enough to pass for a myna bird or two that have appeared on TV shows, demonstrating their abilities to converse. Their lingo is limited, but understandable.

It is said that by splitting a crow's tongue the "gift of gab" can be developed, tuning the crow's ear to imitating the sounds of the human voice.

It takes you by surprise to hear voices from the height of a telephone line and look up to see a crow giving you "the human" rather than "the bird."

If anyone within the print of these words knows the whereabouts of the missing talking crow, and if the owner of the missing crow will identify himself, they might be reunited.

Assuredly, if someone has the patience and ingenuity to teach a crow to talk, he would want to get back his educated bird, if, for no other reason, that to find out what he (the bird) picked up in "Conversational Crow."

.7-Inch Rain Falls In Cameron Area

Official Rainfall Off 62 Percent Of 1962 Figure

Rains showered the area Tuesday but did not last long enough to bring the yearly rainfall up to par. Only 38 percent of the average yearly rainfall has been recorded by J.T. Parma, Cameron weather informer.

Compared to last year's total of 34.64 inches only 13.26 inches of moisture has fallen this year giving the 38 percent average.

During the month of November, the area received 1.46 inches of rain with .70 inches coming in the Tuesday downpour. Parma said this still leaves the area 20 inches short of the normal yearly rainfall.

Milam County Agent J. D. Moore said the rain was still not enough to put the soil in good working condition, but will help fall grain and clover for winter grazing.

"It was not nearly enough for the soil to store any water and put it in good condition for putting out fertilizer so we really need more rain," Moore said.

A report from the Marak Community showed the area received about one and one-half inches of rain Tuesday, Moore said.

In some areas south of Cameron .30 of an inch was reported. East of Cameron received the same amount of rain as in the Cameron area. Also north of Cameron areas reported the same.

Rains seemed to be rather general throughout the county with Thorndale reporting .70 of an inch and Rockdale receiving just a little more, approximately an inch.

CITY SELLS 160,000 GALS. OF WATER TO ROSEBUD

About 160,000 gallons of Cameron water has been shipped to Rosebud and there has been no sign of their drouth situation being relieved by much needed rains.

Officials at the Cameron Compress said two carloads of water have been shipped to Rosebud on the Southern Pacific Railroad for eight consecutive days. Each car holds approximately 10,000 gallons of water.

Rosebud officials requested the water purchase early in the month of November when their supply became close to being depleted.

Mayor Coleman Duncum and city councilmen immediately gave the request their approval and final plans were arranged.

The water is taken to Rosebud and is then pumped into the main line and into the reservior. The Rosebud city lake, which once covered approximately 20 surface acres, covered only six surface acres when the request came.

Local officials said they had no idea how long Rosebud would have to purchase water to overcome their drouth situation. To date there had been no change made in the agreement of two carloads a day and Cameron will continue to ship that amount until advised otherwise.

Three Oil Wells Hit In Milam

Milam County's Minerva - Rockdale shallow field, which has had little drilling activity recently, gained three new producers during the past two weeks.

All three wells, located in the Griffin Chapel area, were drilled by Mack's Production Company of Cameron, and Tom Betchan, Milano, was drilling contractor.

The first producer, the No. 5 Tyrena Cavil, was drilled in November 6. While being swabbed, it came in unexpectedly and sprayed oil over the rig and surrounding area before it could be shut down.

The Cavil is located on a 134½ acre lease about three and one half miles northwest of Milano. Depth was 1266 feet. It produced 15 barrels a day on potential test and has continued to flow since being put in tanks.

The second well brought in, located on an adjoining lease, was the No. 12 Terry and Perry, and is an 8 barrel a day producer.

Another test, the No. 13 Terry and Perry, was drilled in late last week. Electrical log was run on it Tuesday morning and it was "shot" - perforated - at 1236 and 1242 feet. It was reported Tuesday afternoon to be making good shows of oil with some gas. Potential test has not yet been run on it.

More drilling is planned for that area of the field, Mr. A. W. McCullin said Tuesday, and another test, No. 14 Terry and Perry, will be spudded within a few days.

A long time operator in the shallow field, he has a number of producing wells. He also is one of the two largest buyers of crude. Cass Waldon is his field superintendent and in charge of maintenance.

Board Asks Legal Advice On Tax

The Cameron School Board set a meeting at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday following a special closed door session Wednesday afternoon, in hopes of coming to an agreement on the 1963-64 tax plan for the Cameron Independent School District, according to Charles Ziegler, superintendent.

A series of meetings of the Equalization Board and the School Board have been held since the last regular meeting Thursday, with each working to come up with some solution to the controversial matter of this year's tax.

In a meeting Monday morning, the Equalization Board met with Supt. Charles Ziegler and Dr. Gus Evans, Board President, and requested legal information as to what approaches could be used.

For the answers Supt. Ziegler went to Austin Monday afternoon where he met with authorities seeking legal advice. He met with Chester Ollison, Appeals Counselor of the Texas Education Agency; Leon R. Graham, assistant Commissioner for Administration of the Texas Education Agency and also J. C. Hinsley. Hinsley is an attorney-at-law and also the author of the book of Texas School Law and has a monthly newsletter service.

Ziegler requested answers to the following questions:

1. Whether a school could go back to last year's tax roll, collect the same amount which would create a deficit budget?

"According to the statutes and regulations, we cannot operate on a deficit budget," Ziegler said.

2. If you did operate on a deficit budget, could you borrow money when it ran out?

"There are only two ways schools are authorized to borrow money, on time warrants with a maximum of $25,000. Since our school has a $20,000 outstanding loan, we would only be allowed to borrow $5,000 more," Ziegler said and continued, "The second way is to borrow on anticipation of current revenues. Since we would have already collected the anticipated revenue for this year we would not have any borrowing power as it would have to be paid back August 31."

3. Could the 1964 tax rolls be prepared early with request that they be paid early?

"It is a violation to use the 1964 tax money in the 1963-64 school year, so that is no solution," Ziegler said.

One other possibility was an across the board increase, of a per cent necessary to meet the budget.

"The main thing is that the values in the school district were assumed unequal or we wouldn't have done the appraisals in the first place. We would only compound our error and though we would have met our budget, we wouldn't have performed equalization," Ziegler said.

Some have suggested this be done until the 1964-65 school year when a correct tax roll can be sent out.

SIX INDICTED BY GRAND JURY FRI.; 3 ARRAIGNED

Three cases were arraigned before District Judge Wm. Wallace in Milam District Courtroom Monday. The action came following the Grand Jury session last Friday which produced six indictments.

The Grand Jury had one murder indictment, one indictment for driving a vehicle without the owners consent and four indictments on felony hot check cases.

Darrell Shuffield, 31, of Rockdale, was indicted for murder with malice. Trial date for the murder case against Shuffield in the death of Albert Ray Wheelus Jr. of Lexington, has not been set.

E. L. Pharis of Houston and Edmund Kasse Jr.of Hutto were indicted for a felony hot check.

A. B. Richards of Cameron and W. J. Loftin of Odessa were also indicted on the felony hot check case and are awaiting trial in the Milam County Jail after appearing before Judge Wallace. They were arraigned along with Clarence Kelley of Calvert who was indicted on the case of driving a vehicle without the owners consent. He was offered a $1,000 bond at the arraignment.

Judge Wallace appointed attorney Robert Ellett to serve as defense council for Richards, Loftin and Kelley.

Shuffield is charged with the October 13 shooting of Wheelus in a Rockdale tavern owned by Shuffield. Wheelus was shot in the neck and died a few hours after the midnight shooting in a Temple hospital.

Following the shooting Shuffield was brought to Cameron and was held in the Milam County Jail until he was granted $15,000 bail the latter part of October.

Basketball Drills Get Underway

A quick changeover was made this week as gridmen turned in their uniforms, were handed another and started Basketball practice.

About 35 boys turned out for practice for the A and B Yoemen Basketball teams. Coach Nick Greer will head the roundball squad.

Only a few lettermen have returned this year although the list is not yet complete. Merlin Lester is back along with Dicky Ponder, Ronnie McWilliams and Billy Davenport.

The schedule called for a game with Rosebud this Friday night and again next Tuesday. However, since Rosebud is still playing football the game has been postponed and Coach Greer is trying to schedule some other teams to meet in the pre-district games.

Trade At Home

Stores Offering Big Yule Variety

By Lois Sapp

Cameron merchants would like to have the opportunity to accommodate all of the residents of Cameron and the area for not only this Christmas season but for all the year long.

Mrs. Barbara Smitherman, Manager-Secretary of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce, is constantly making a big effort to benefit the town of Cameron and the residents that live here. It is not only one of her duties as the manager of the Chamber, but also she feels it is her duty as a person.

"Every Cameron citizen should make an honest effort to shop at home," she said in speaking of the Christmas season that is fast approaching.

Merchants in the Cameron area are striving to give their customers the best quality, excellent prices and a variety of merchandise. They can continue to grow and accomplish this goal even more through the patronage of their customers.

The local stores do not always have a 'Sale' sign in their windows, but they do carry equitable merchandise to fit everyone's pocketbook. Service is also something the local stores pride themselves in.

In explaining her view point, Mrs. Smitherman said, "The figure of $2.93 is a popular price in Cameron, as it is in all towns and cities. When this $2.98 is spent at home the circulation remains right inside the town. The merchant who trades your $2.98 for merchandise in turn purchases something from another store and it is a round rob. in cycle."

"People who pay a big amount of taxes and make our town attractive for us are in a large part the merchants. If you are a wage earner in this town you benefit even more," she said and continued, "but if you are a resident with your earning power coming elsewhere you still benefit."

"The taxes these business houses pay help to maintain the streets, roads and city works. They are also a big part of keeping the community projects that the children of the town benefit in alive by being the major contributors. Without the cooperation of the businessmen such organizations as the Boy and Girl Scouts and charity organizations could not function in this town," Mrs. Smitherman continued.

In conclusion she said, "Give the local merchant a chance first, then if he does not have the rare item you are seeking look elsewhere, but we do need the patronage of every Cameron citizen if we are to grow and prosper."

J. C. PENNEY BUILDING GETS FACE LIFTING

Spruce up and fix up seem to be the big thing in Cameron these days as a variety of stores and buildings have undergone tremendous changes in the past months.

This week the J. C. Penney store is getting a face lifting job at the 101 West Main Street site and will shine like a new silver dollar.

Workmen and painters were busy refinishing the exterior at midweek. New tile has been installed on the front column and around the windows, and the building will be given a new coat of paint.

The interior has been freshly painted also, according to Bill Tolson, manager of the business.

Pledge Drive To Kick-Off Library Building Project

The Cameron Library Board approved four reports setting a plan for a fund drive for the proposed $40,000 new library structure for Cameron, at the annual meeting of the membership Monday night.

A pledge drive is to get underway immediately and will be followed up with personal contacts and a public fund drive.

Mrs. Martha Kahler, during her financial report, outlined means of raising the money needed for the project.

Chairman of the project, E. A. Perrin, presented his plan for securing the necessary funds and emphasized the value of a library as a historical center for Cameron.

Oxsheer Smith and Perrin told the group of the plan for contacting donors. Letters will be sent to 175 out-of-town residents and about 150 letters will be sent to people in Cameron seeking their pledges.

The pledges could come over a period of two and one-fourth years or in cash. It follows the City's donation of $10,000 coming in a period of three years.

Perrin explained that the contributions to the building fund of the Library would be a tax deductable item.

Smith emphasized his confidence that this program would be carried out swiftly and with success.

The second phase of the plan is to make personal contacts with local special gifts donor.

After it is known what amount will come from private donations, a general public drive will be launched.

The public drive will work through every civic and club group in Cameron.

With the City giving the project a big boost with their $10,000 donation and the building fund already having about $1,000, the $29,000 needed to complete the project should not be too difficult to acquire, library officials said.

When this is done, the model that has been on display and the sketch of the floor plan will no longer be a dream and in miniature scale but will be built on the East 4th Street site set aside by the City two years ago.

Alcoa Potline Will Re-Open Nov. 23

Hiring of 87 new employees to man an additional potline and related facilities continued this week at Aluminum Company of America's Rockdale Works. The additional manpower will boost total employment at the aluminum smelter to 1,024.

Preparations for restarting the 25,000-ton potline got under way several days ago. The tentative date of energizing the plant's sixth production unit is set for the weekend of November 23, bringing the smelter's total rated annual capacity to 150,000 tons.

Works Manager Joe E. Yates indicated that the response to the call for additional manpower has been very encouraging. About 45 new employees have been added to the work force since hiring began. Employment Office personnel at the smelter have been interviewing job applicants from over the area.

The sixth potline was one of two lines added to the Rockdale Aluminum smelter following its construction in 1952. The expansion program was completed in 1956, increasing the smelter's capacity by 50 per cent. The sixth line has been idle since 1958.

Yates said reactivating the sixth potline was prompted by increased demands for aluminum products. He added that the plants annual payroll will be in excess of $7 million when the work force reaches its full complement of men.

Got It's Start From Young Boy

Hornung Hatchery Is One Of United States' Largest

By Lloyd Albertson

The Hornung Brothers Hatchery in Cameron, one of the largest hatcheres of its kind in the United States, really got its start because a boy's mother had some Black Minorca chickens and he became interested in raising them and showing them at county fairs and poultry shows.

That boy was John Hornung. In the years before World War I it was the custom for many families to keep a few chilckens in the back yard for eggs and to eat, and Black Minorcas were only one of a number of breeds that were popular at the time.

John Hornung did so well at raising chilckens that the hobby turned into a business. His brothers joined him in December, 1928 and they started the Hornung Hatchery.

HATCHERY'S START

The hatchery was started by three brothers - John, O. W. (Otto), and G. L. Hornung. Another brother, H. O. (Herman) Hornung later joined the organization.

It was during this period in the latter 1920's - 1927, 1928, 1929 - that the hatchery business had its first big growth in Texas. It shifted from a few small hatcheries to larger more efficient ones. Farmers and other poultry raisers found it more convenient and cheaper to buy baby chicks from a hatchery or to bring their eggs for hatching rather than to set hens. Some feed and grain stores started hatcheries as a sideline to promote the sale of their feeds.

Hornung, along with other hatcheries, made little progress during the depression years of the 1930's, but changed conditions in the 1940's caused the industry to boom. Meat rationing during World War II, and later the skyrocketing price of broilers - prices rose to 50 cents a pound - greatly increased the demand for chickens. As a result, during the early 1950's there were 400 hatcheries operating in Texas.

There was a big drop in the number, however, following the end of the boom several years ago. Today it is estimated there are not more than 150 hatcheries in the state. These have a production capacity, though, as large - or larger - than the 400 of a decade ago.

CHOICE OF BREEDS

Hornung is one of the very few hatcheries in the United States that still offers its customers a wide choice of breeds and varieties of chicks, some of them fairly rare. The big majority of hatcheries, for economic reasons, limit their output to a few popular egg producing or meat producing breeds, where the bulk of the demand is in poultry.

In order to show how few of the other type of hatchery there are, a poultry magazine recetnly had a story describing how Robert Taylor, the movie star, made a trip in his private plane to a city in Iowa - just to pick up some Buff Orpington baby chicks from a hatchery there for his ranch in California. Apparently none of the hatcheries in California could supply him. Taylor wanted Buff Orpingtons because that was the kind of chickens his parents had on the farm when he was a boy.

The Iowa hatchery advertises that it has "67 breeds and varieties" of chicks.

Hornung doesn't have that many, but its 1964 calendar and catalogue sheet does list some 25 different breeds and varieties.

These range all the way from Black Austratorps shown in the top left hand corner of the calendar picture, to Light Brahmas on the right side, Buttercups, Dark Cornish Game and White Leghorn, Barred Plymouth Rocks, White Crested Black Polish, Layorca, Silver Laced Wyaddottes, Blue Andalusians, to New Hampshire Reds in the bottom right hand corner. Some of them are really rare breeds. Others that Grandpa raised in the back yard years ago, but which somehow have lost much of their popularity and are not often seen nowadays.

And along with them there are the popular high-production laying breeds of today. For Hornung, of course, also supplies chicks for that market.

WIDE RANGE OF CUSTOMERS

Probably the largest group of the hatchery's customers are people who have been customers before, maybe for several years. Then there are the hobbyists. People who like to raise the rare breeds, or - as in the case of Robert Taylor - the old-fashioned varieties. Incidentally, Hornung could have supplied the Buff Orpingtons he wanted. Even other hatcheries are customers occasionally when they have calls for a breed they don't carry or haven't on hand.

Voc-Ag students also are among its customers. Raising a pen of broilers or one of the rare breeds has advantages since it is a project that can be completed during one school year, and offers a chance to earn money by winning prizes in poultry shows and the like to help with college expenses.

POULTRY RAISERS

Hornung, unlike some hatcheries, does not maintain a poultry farm, but instead depends on poultry raisers in the area to supply it with the large number of eggs it needs in its operations.

"The number of our producers varies, but usually runs between eighty and ninety," Guss Elley, one of the hatchery's owners, remarked a few days ago. "Right now there are 87 of them."

Some of these are located in the Cameron vicinity. But others are as far away as Taylor, Caldwell, Giddings, Temple and Belton. They are all individually operated; however, they receive close supervision by the Hornung staff to make sure their breeding stock is kept up to the hatchery's high standards. They are paid a bonus for the eggs they produce for the hatchery.

Hornung's hatchery facilities and office occupies a large two-story brick building on Main Street in downtown Cameron.

BUSINESS FACILITIES

Along a wall near the rear of the building are the incubators. Each of these is almost as big as a small room and has a capacity of 52,000 eggs. There are 15 of them. But only five or six incubators usually are in operation at a time during the peak of the hatchery season.

The eggs being hatched are placed in trays or racks that tilt at different angles during the three week incubation period.

Like other modern hatcheries, Hornung sexes its chicks - that is, it sorts them as puttlets and cockerels. Customers are offered a choice of three groups: pullets, cockerels or straight run, this letter being chicks just as they come from the incubator.

The hatchery's chicks are sexed by Mrs. Betty Elley, wife of one of the owners, Louis Elley. She attended a school in Dallas a few years ago to learn the technique. She has been featured in several magazine and newspaper stories, and is rated highly for her speed and accuracy as a sexor.

Hornung, along with the rest of the industry, uses parcel post for most of its shipments of baby chicks to its customers.

The law permitting chicks to be sent through the mails was enacted by Congress in 1918. The present day postal regulations require that baby chicks be shipped so as to reach their destination within 60 hours from the time they were hatched. This means roughly distances up to about 600 miles.

MARKET AREA

Since Cameron is located near the center of the state, Hornung's market area includes Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico except for the far northwest corner.

Old Mexico also was a market until several years ago, and Hornung shipped chicks to customers there. But back in the 1950's the Mexican Government, in an effort to protect the hatchery industry there, passed laws requiring entrance permits be issued before chicks could be shipped into the country. The gimmick was that the permits were practically impossible to obtain.

"And with no permit," Guss Elley commented, "there's no way to ship chicks in there."

Actually Mexico, although it was a large and growing market, was not always an especially profitable one, so he feels it was not much of a loss to the American hatchery industry.

Hornung's regular days for shipping out its baby chicks are Mondays and Thursdays. This is to insure that even if they have to travel for the full two and a half days, the chicks will not arrive at their destination on Sunday and possibly have to lay over unclaimed in the post office for another twenty four hours.

There is a little known reason why baby chicks can be shipped for two or three days without food and still remain in excellent condition.

During the chick's incubation period, so the explanation goes, the chick embryo develops in the albumin or white of the egg. The yolk or yellow is its food. The chick embryo attaches itself to the yolk by a small placenta, and consumes it during the hatching period. Just before the chick is ready to pip and emerge from the shell, the placenta and the small remaining bit of yolk are drawn up into its abdomen. The chick, therefore, has about three days food supply in its body when it is hatched.

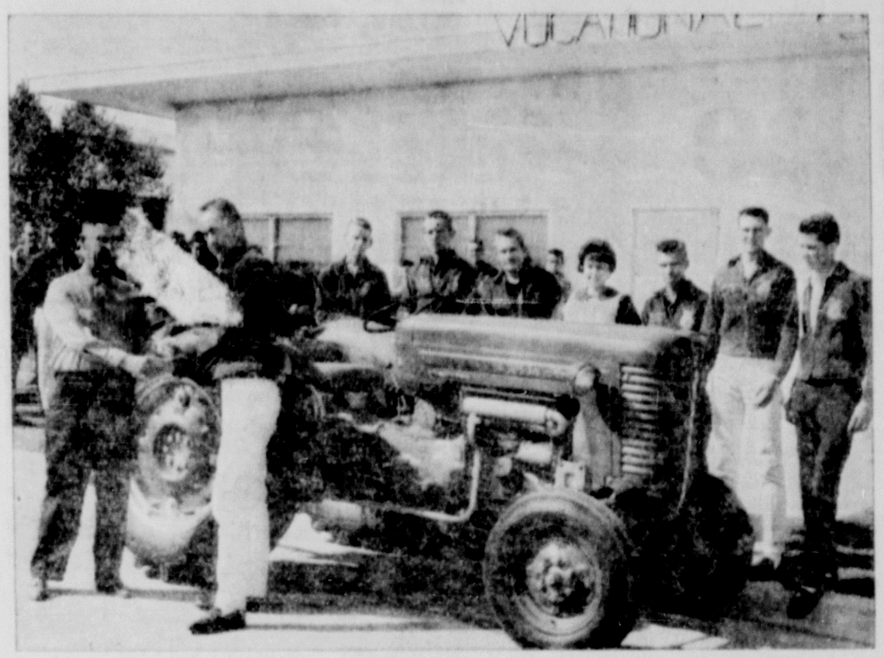

Nature, of course, made the arrangement for the benefit of the baby chick so it could remain on the nest while the old mother hen finished hatching the last of the eggs. But, admittedly, it has some benefits also for the modern hatchery that is engaged in the mail order business.

MANY CHANGES

Over the years there have been a good many changes in the Hornung hatchery. Only one of the brothers who founded it - O. W. Hornung - remains in the concern. Two other brothers are dead - Herman Hornung was killed in an automobile accident several years ago, and G. L. Hornung died recently. And John Hornung, the other brother, retired and now is a rancher.

Today the hatchery is operated by O. W. Hornung and three nephews - Fredwill Hornung, Louis Elley and Guss Elley, who came into the business during the past few years.

There have been a good many ups and downs since it was started but Hornung has grown into one of the largest hatcheries of its kind in the country - and one of the biggest industries in Cameron.

County Agent Notes

A&M To Host Dairy Course

By J. D. Moore
Milam County Agent

A dairyman's short course will be held at Texas A&M November 21-22. The short course is designed to serve the needs of all dairymen, milk plant fieldmen, commercial feed company fieldmen, and others. The 1963 version of the affair will feature a discussion of such subjects as the changing dairy policy arena, the low solids problem, dry lot feeding, and dairy feeding programs under drouth conditions.

Keynote speaker for this year's short course, which will be held in the Memorial Student Center, at A&M will be W. D. (Bill) Knox, well known editor of the "Hoards Dairyman." Four well known Texas dairymen - Dr. David Smokler, Olin Pattillo, Kingsville; and Henry Haisler, Bastrop - will take part in a panel discussion of today's dairy feeding problems.

MOSS TREATMENT

Mr. Quido Gershback of the Davilla Community reported good results in getting rid of moss in his farm pond.He used 1 gallon of 40 percent strength sodium arsenite in 3 gallons of water. The mixture was applied by using a hand sprayer.

A few days after treatment plants turn brown, become limp and sink to the bottom where they begin to decay. Water may turn brown and turbid during this period. The plants remain on the bottom where they gradually disintegrate without objectionable odor.

One application of sodium arsenite should control weeds for a summer. It does not kill seed or prevent encroachment from surrounding waters. Therefore annual treatment may be needed for at least 2 or 3 years.

There are no harmful effects to fish from sodium arsenite if properly used. Sodium arsenite should be handled with care. Keep animals and children away from treated areas for at least 2 weeks. Do not draw irrigation water from a treated pond for at least 1 week after treatment.

'A Place To Live' Termed Valuable Rural-Urban Book

College Station - The 1963 Yearbook of Agriculture, entitled "A Place to Live," focuses attention to the many changes occurring in rural areas throughout the country as a result of urbanization.

Gerald F.Vaughn, Extension resource development specialist at Texas A&M, says the book has many applications to Texas and Texas conditions and should prove a valuable aid to leaders in keeping abreast of changes.

For example, chapters are included on topics such as: "The Family Farm in Transition," "Farming on the Urban Fringe," "The Small Rural Town," "Water is Always a Critical Factor," "Encouraging Industry in the Country," and many others that are of concern to Texans.

"This is one of the most valuable references on Rural-Urban affairs published to date," Vaughn said.

Copies of the yearbook, "A Place to Live," may be obtained from your Congressman, free of charge, or from the U. S. Government Printing Office for $3.00.

Cotton Vote On The Dec. 10 Referendum Defined By Official

College Station - The meaning of a "yes" or a "no" vote in the December 10 referendum on cotton marketing quotas has been explained by W. L. David, Chairman, and Conservation Committee. All farmers who engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1963 are eligible to vote in the referendum.

The Chairman explains the basic program choices as these: First, if at least two-thirds of the growers who votein the referendum approve of quotas, then the quotas, then the quotas will be in effect for the 1964 upland cotton crop. Also, marketing penalties will apply to any 'excess' cotton produced on a farm, and price support at a level within the range of 65 to 90 percent of parity will be available to farmers who comply with their farm acreage allotments, he says.

On the other hand, if more than one-third of the growers who vote oppose the quotas, then there will be no quotas and no penalties applicable to the 1964 upland cotton crop. Then price support to farmers who comply with their farm acreage allotments will be available at 50 percent of parity, as directed by law.

Allotments are not affected by the outcome of the balloting, David says. They will remain in effect, whether or not quotas are approved, as a means of determining eligibility for the available price support.

David pointed out that while the Secretary of Agriculture is directed by law to proclaim quotas for the next crop when the total cotton supply exceeds normal, it is the growers themselves who decide whether or not quotas shall be used.

Allotments for individual farms will be made available to growers prior to the December 10 referendum, the Chairman said.

Home And Out-Of-Doors

New Emphasis For Girl Scouts

Cameron now lists more than 100 registered Girl Scouts under a new national scouting program which emphasizes the home as well as the out-of-doors.

The new program allows larger troops and is divided into 4 age groups: Brownies, Juniors, Cadets and Seniors (high school).

The Cameron Girl Scout program has a fresh start this year under the enthusiastic leadership of Mrs. Travis Anderson, neighborhood chairman.

Five troops are now organized in Cameron and each is working on a good-will project.Brownies in Mrs. Grady Coker's troop will collect toys for the Cameron Toys for Tots program. Mrs. Lewis Rylander is assistant leader in this troop.

Mrs. James Kahlers Junior troop 369 with assistant leader, Mrs. Don Jeter, is making stuffed animals and building blocks for the Retarded Childrens Hospital in Austin and Mrs. Joe Hickman's troop is making dolls for the Childrens Hospital.

Thanksgiving place mats for patients trays at St. Edward Hospital are being made by Troop 311 under the leadership of Mrs. Billie Ellis and Mrs. George Hollas.

SENIOR TROOP

There is interest again this year in a senior troop and the new Scout program has been adapted to appeal to the high school girl. Mrs. Jessie Kirk, former Yoe High Homemaking teacher, has agreed to serve as troop leader for the senior scouts if a troop is organized.

Girl Scout execuives point out that under the new program a girl can start in scouts without having to make up badgers earned at younger levels. So, a high school age girl could enter the senior troop without any previous scout training.

MRS. WILLIAMS ROLE

The Cameron Girl Scout movement has been particularly fortunate to have a District Girl Scout Board member. Mrs. Lester Williams, active in scouting for many years and a member of the board of the Colorado Lakes Girl Scout District, has been the backbone of girl scouting in this area. She has worked closely with the local neighborhood council and directs the summer day camp program.

Never one to "let Jack do it" Mrs. Williams has raised operating funds for scouts, recruited leaders and council members and on more than one occasion has even cleaned out the Girl Scout Hut in Ledbetter Park for scouting activities.

And to keep abreast of the scouting program Mrs. Williams attended the National Girl Scout Council in Florida last month at her own expense.

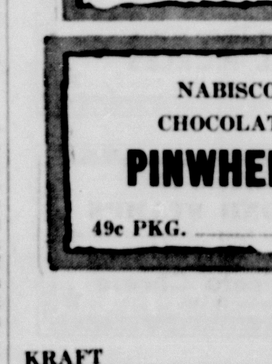

One of the responsibilities of scouts is to learn thrift and responsibility and the progam is designed to teach girls to improvise materials. However, the scouts do need operating funds and a local drive will be held this month.

Coconut palms can be grown near Brownsville.

Fading Era

Country Store Has Serene Air

By Lois Sapp

The old-time rustic country stores are fast moving into a fading era and are being replaced by the new and modern businesses.This is quite wonderful, too, but the country style store still carries an air of calm serenity and a peaceful refuge for people in this fast moving world of today.

In Cameron there is such a store which is typical of years gone by.

Looking to the front of this building it is hard to tell just what lies within. An unpainted exterior front greets the public and there is no sign except a coupic of implement signs and one that says get hunting license inside. They have been there probably as long as the building.

WIED HARDWARE

At the end of the building booms the name "Wied Hardware" and then everyone knows they are in the right place to get just about anything they need from modern to very old needs.

Once inside a person can notice there is just one thing lacking to bring the early American scene into complete focus.

The old pot-bellied stove that once sat in the middle of the large store is now removed. But evidence is still there as the stove pipe has never been removed from the ceiling.

"We finally had to get rid of the old stove a few years ago when we could no longer get the coal to burn in it," said the owner E. L. Wied.

PURCHASED IN 1946

Wied has been owner and operator of the business on 413 W. Batte since 1946 and believes there is nothing different about his store.

In regard to the old stove he said many tales have been related there and men still gather there to spend their leisure time visiting with others.

During hunting season, the hunters tell wild tales and come spring the topic is changed to fish stories, but the air is always filled with the quiet murmur of men's voices as of old.

HUNTING IS HOBBY

Wied, being a hunter himself and who says that is his main hobby, displays the deer antlers in the center of the room. Hanging from celing posts in the center of the room, they help promote the 'welcome to conversation' id ea.

There are probably more kinds of items in the store than anyone could guess but Wied seems to know exactly where everything is.

The tremendous variety supplies needs for nearly every occupation or household.

Some butter churns sit on one side of the building and Wied said they are still being purchased, three or four of them a year. The Hosseman's bar is in another corner and sporting supplies, household needs and about anything else line the walls and racks.

Wied purchased the business from B. J. Matocha, who operated the business with his brother and it was known as A. J. Matocha and Company.

AGE UNKNOWN

Nobody seems to know just how old the building is. It was the Old Germania Hall years ago and is now located. The Matocha's purchased the building after the original building burned. In all the Matocha's operated the busniess 32 years.

Before going into the hardware business, Wied was in service and a banker in Rosebud. He is a native of Burlington and married the former Miss Agnes Hebner in 1942.

"I am just crazy about my business and spend at least 10 hours here every day," Wied said. Part of that time is spent helping children. There has never been a child go into his place with a problem that "Bubba" Wied doesn't strive to help.

LOVES CHILDREN

He was known to work a half hour making a tiny spring for a toy machine for Leslie Ruth Luecke because he didn't have one to fit. When it was finished and he was asked how much it was he replied "Oh it was nothing, just a piece of scrap."

"I love to do for children, it is very satisfying," he said.

His easy going mood is contagious and he strives to move at this unhurried pace all the time. That is probably one of the main reasons his business is such a success.

When asked about plans for modernization he replied, "I have no plans for changing my business. People seem to like it this way and who knows, they might not come in if I did."

Yoe Fights Hard Battle But Loses To Rockdale

The Cameron Yoemen showed their strong spirit and courage in fighting the heavily favored Rockdale Tigers Friday night as the Tigers won 35-0 in the last district 19-AA game of the season.

As is true in all athletics, the score tells who won the game as far as statistics go.

But the general concensus of Cameron fans was that this youthful bunch of Yoemen won, too, in that they won the admiration of never giving up even under certain defeat.

Fans in the capacity filled Yoe Stadium saw them battle as hard in the last few seconds of the fourth quarter as they did while they still had a chance to come out on top.

The Yoemen had many obstacles to deal with having an average backfield weight of 38 pounds less per man than on the Rockdale squad. This didnt seem to worry the boys or stop them from doing an excellent job of blocking and tackling.

Also in the line, the Yoemen averaged 28 pounds less per man than on the Tigers team. Here too, they are admired for their rough and rugged football playing.

TEAM RECORDS

Cameron is not one of few, but one of many who have been defeated by a staunch Rockdale squad this year, but they held them equally well. Rockdale ended the season with a 10-0 record having only one field goal and one safety scored on them all year.

The Yoemen ended the season with a 4-5-1 record.

Rockdales Tigers scored twice in the first quarter, once in the second, were held scoreless in the third and scored two more touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

YOE HELD SHORT

Through the outstanding Tiger line, the Yoemen penetrated to the three yard line and came as close to scoring a touchdown on the Tigers as any other team this year.

Rockdales first touchdown came on a drive following the kickoff. Three ground plays and a pass from Quarterback Dicky Summers to halfback Ronnie Menn for 33 yards put them on the Cameron 29 yard line. Following a series of plays Menn skirted around left end from 5 yards out for the first score.

PERFECT AVERAGE

Menn kicked the extra point on this touchdown along with the conversions of the other four scores for a perfect kicking average.

Hard luck for the Yoemen struck early as an anxious back fumbled on the first play on their own 18 yard line setting up Rockdale's second tally.

The Tigers drove to the 7 yard line where end Ernie Lawrence scored on a pass from Summers.

Fumbles seemed to be a part of both teams Friday night as the Yoemen had three and lost three and the Tigers had three and lost two.

The first Tiger fumble came late in the first quarter and the Yoemen took the ball from their own 41 yard line and drove through the Rockdale line to the 3 yard line where they were held just short of a first down.

In the second quarter, the Tigers drove from their own 3 yard line to the 37 where they were forced into a 4th down punting situation.

Cameron, from their own 29, drove to the 36 where they met strong opposition and had to punt to Rockdale.

Summers used quick judgement and kept the Yoemen from taking him on his own 37 when he attempted a punt, fumbled and then recovered the ball and ran for a first down.

From the 37 yard line the Tigers attempted a field goal which fell just under the goal posts.

In the next series of drives the ball was knocked from a Yoemans hands and the Tigers covered.

From the Cameron 31 yard line, the Tigers moved to the 2 yard line where Summers went off right tackle on a keeper play bringing the halftime score to 21-0.

HELD STRONG

During the third quarter fans saw the Yoemen hold the Tigers scoreless when they closed up holes and made the Tigers punt on 4th downs.

The Yoemen took to the air and in one series of drives got to the Tiger 30 but were again forced to punt.

Fourth quarter action saw Rockdale move from their own 13 yard line, passing and running ground plays to the 42.

From that point Summers passed to Robert Jenson putting the ball on the 5 yard line.

One play from scrimmage the Yoemen held fast and then the Tigers pushed to the one foot line where fullback L. B. Kubiak went off right guard for the tally.

Again in the 4th quarter, Rockdale fumbled on their own 45 yard line and the Yoemen moved to the 32 where they were unable to pick up that extra yardage for the first down.

A 51 yard run by Menn put the Tigers on the Yoemen 27 yard line and they moved slowly to the five yard line. Kubiak again went off right tackle from 5 yards out.

SCRAPPY YOEMEN

In the last minutes of the game the Yoemen were still playing strong and held the Tigers on the one yard line and they were unable to get another play underway before the clock ran out.

Outstanding players for the game were unavailable but they all deserve to be placed in this bracket. Along with the regulars, Craig Wallace did a fine job of replacing Mike 'Bull" McDaniel at the fullback spot. Wallace had seen little action since the first game of the season when he was injured. McDaniel was out due to an injured leg.

Rosebud-Elkhart In Bi-District

The Rosebud Black Panthers will meet the Elkhart eleven for Bi-District honors Friday night at Mexia Stadium. Game time will be 7:45 p.m.

Elkhart ended the season with a 7-2-1 record. Rosebud went through the season undefeated.

Last week the Black Panthers powered past the Midway Panthers, 20-0 to show the McLennan team that they wouldn't be beaten out two years in a row.

In an identical situation last year, undefeated Rosebud was knocked out of the title race by Midway, 21-14.

The first half saw Rosebud squeeze in one score for an 8-0 tally at halftime.

Raring to go the team came back in the second half to live up to their fourth place rating in the state Class A circles.

An over-eager Midway squad gave the visitors two good breaks in the first quarter by losing fumbles.

In the opening kickoff, Midway took the pigskin and after picking up a first down Mike Mirick fumbled a handoff which was covered by the Rosebud defense.

Rosebud chalked up a first but were held and the ball went back to the Midway squad. Midway picked up three and four yard gainers before the ball was knocked loose from Thompson.

Rosebud quarterback Harlen Wunsch handed off twice to halfback W. D. Swanzy for 14 yards in three plays. Then a keeper fizzled at the line of scrimmage and the next pass attempt failed when he was ganged for a 19 yard loss. A field attempt went wide stopping the drive.

Halfback Tom Gaither scored the first tally for Rosebud when he went through the line for 25 yards. Alfred Castilleja went around end for the two points.

Rosebud roared back in the second half and moved 85 yards in 10 plays. Then from 15 yards out Swanzy hit the line and went through for the touchdown. The points failed because of an ineligible man penalty.

Gaither added Rosebud's final touchdown midway in the fourth period on a 29-yard run through the left side of the line.

Rosebud had 268 yards total offense to 114 for Midway with four penetrations to none and first downs, 14-9.

The term"family farm" is often misunderstood. To be a family farm, the farmer and his family manage and operate the farm, take the risks and reap the rewards, and also contribute most of the farm labor. Farms that use less than one and one-half years of hired labor are classed as family farms.

In Bi-District Play

Rockdale Tigers To Meet Taylor

The Rockdale Tigers will meet the Taylor Ducks in Bi-District play this Friday night. The battle will take place at the Duck Stadium at 7:30 p.m.

Rockdale who flew through the season undefeated, and won the District 19-AA championship title are vying for the top state crown for the second year in a row.

The Ducks squeezed by the Georgetown eleven last Friday night 7-0 to take the District 20-AA championship.

Taylor's season record is not as impressive as the Tigers as they have a 6-4 record for the year. However, they have only lost one district game and that was to Elgin.

Earlier in the year the Rockdale Tigers managed a win over the Ducks 13-0 and observers say it was one of the toughest battles the Tigers have encountered all year.

Taylor has also been defeated by Cameron and Brenham.

The big and powerful Rockdale squad is rated a favorite by two or three touchdowns over the Ducks. But the Ducks, who have taken one defeat under the Tigers may surprise even themselves.

Following last weeks action when the Tigers beat the Cameron Yoemen 35-0, they have been rated number one in the Dallas Morning News football rating poll.

The State Finalist of last year has been rated among the top ten in the State nearly all season.

The winner of the battle Friday night will play the winner of the West-San Saba game for Regional honors.

Milam Hunters Seek Prize Deer As Season Begins

The big-game season opened in Texas early Saturday and an estimated 400,000 hunters scattered on leases throughout the state.

Milam County is adding its share of hunters to this number with many still out and others who have returned home. Some empty handed while others have had the luck of getting the buck in their sights.

Game officials predicted 200,000 hunks of venison would fall by the time the year was out.

Generally prospects were bright. However, Don Howard who killed an eight point buck and Charles Henson who killed a four point buck in their weekend hunting trip to Barksdale about 40 miles east of Del Rio, were hampered by the heat. They lost both of their game from the weather.

"We were hoping for a cold wave so we could save the meat and get back home, but we couldn't make it, Howard said.

Many other Cameron hunters have been trying their luck through out the state. Another party hunted in the San Saba area and were unavailable for comment, some still on trips.

R.J. Woodum said there were plenty of deer but the weather wasn't suitable. The deer were also in good condition but the big bucks were not moving and most hunters were just killing the smaller ones. He said his party also killed some turkey.

In much of the hill country, populations have soared since last season, according to Earl Golding, Tribune-Herald Outdoors Editor

Llano County, often called the whitetail capital of Texas, now has a population of over 90,000 deer. Last year, it was placed around 50,000.

There is an unusually large fawn crop with a fawn to every doe. The Bucks are not as plentiful as hunters would like as almost 50 percent of the county's deer population is made up of fawns and some observers are saying the total buck kill for the year may be below last year's.

Bucks are said to be carrying better racks of antlers than last year, due to the fact that some good rains fell while the horns were in the developing stages, Golding said.

Eugene Walker, program planning director for the Parks and Wildlife Commission, says in some parts of the state deer will be dying of malnutrition caused by over-population.

He says the only two areas in the state facing a shortage are the eastern counties along the Louisiana border, and spotted sections in the southeast.

Lampasas county game officials noted that approximately 700 hunters are expected to kill about 1,000 deer. If the estimates are close the County economy would be some $100,000 better off.

Deer population in Milam County is growing and there are some known herds in the Marlay Community. However, the land is closed to deer hunters at this time.

Other Milam hunters known by the Herald trying their luck so far this season are George Barr, Dan McDaniel, Valter White, Johnny Smith, John A. Smith, Dr. Gaar Evans, Don Humble, Max Howard, Bert Robinson, Willis Looney, E. L. Wied and Calvin Cobb.

Both teams were scoreless through the first three quarters and then the Eagles scored on two passes to take the game.

Quarterback Jimmy Mayfield hit halfback Raymond Skrabanek for 24 yards and the touchdown at the end of a 35 yard drive. Bobby Killough kicked the extra point.

Rogers first score came after two attempts when they were held on the one yard line twice in a row before they came through to hit pay dirt.

With one minute left in the game and Academy was driving for a possible score, when linebacker Carl Foster intercepted a pass on the Rogers 30 and ran all 70 yards for a touchdown. The try for conversion failed.

Tackle Bobby Goodnight and guard Ricky Persky turned in outstanding defensive performances for Academy.

Among the outstanding players for Rogers was guard Kenny Waits with his good punting that kept Academy in its own end of the field often. Waits punted four times for a 40 yard average. One of them was a 76 yard beauty that went out of bounds on the Academy four yardline.

Badgers-Jerrell Tie Take Second Place In District 14-B

Buckholts edged Jarrell on penetrations 8-4 to take second place in District 14-B when their game ended in a 26-26 tie.

To get a tie, the Badgers had to score fourteen points in the last three and one half minutes of the game.

Jarrell tallied the first points of the game when Nic Procter passed to left end Mike Wiley for twelve yards and six points. Buckholts came back to hit pay dirt on a pass from Calvin Shenkir to right end Larry Kudlacek.At the end of the first quarter, the score was tied 6-6.

Jarrell scored again late in the second quarter on a pass from Proctor to Hernandez. The halftime score was Jarrell 12, Buckholts 6.

Buckholts tied the game again early in the third period when Lawrence Hanke intercepted a Jarrell pass and went twelve yards for the six points.

In the fourth quarter Nic Proctor and Mike Wiley scored one touchdown each for Jarrell and Proctor kicked one point to give Jarrell a 25-14 lead. (In six man football a kick for the PAT is good for two points.) With less than four minutes left to play Calvin Shenkir ran 45 yards for a touchdown for Buckholts. The try for extra point was no good and Jarrell led 26-18.On the next series of downs, Jarrell tried to pass and Joe Mendoza intercepted the ball to give the Badgers an opportunity on Jarrell's 30 yard line.

Buckholts drove to the Jarrell two yard line but lost yardage on the next three downs and were found with fourth and goal from the ten yard line. On fourth down Calvin Shenkir passed to Dicky Jones for the touchdown. The score was now 26-24 in Jarrell's favor when Shenkir drop-kicked the ball through the uprights for the two points to tie the game. At this time there were 50 seconds left in the game.

Jarrell received the kickoff and on the first play from scrimmage moved to the Badger 35 yard line. On the next play Calvin Shenkir intercepted a pass and returned it to the Jarrell 30 yard line where the game ended. The tie gave Buckholts a 4-3-1 record for the season.

Economic Aid Rebounds

Post World War II economic policies create a widening dilemma for the U.S.

Since the days of the Marshall Plan and continuing through foreign aid and wheat sale negotiations, the United States has developed stiff international industrial competition that now penetrates both our domestic and foreign markets.

And since the wheat deal came up a few weeks ago, John Q. Public is finding out that U. S.-vitalized Japanese and Western European industry is continuing a growth trade program with the Communist Bloc.

This is while our trade with Russia is limited by such laws as the Johnson Act.

We continue to have a New World naivete about how to help the Old World. Quite utilitarian, Western powers and Japan, for example, find it good business to use our rebuilding program to compete with us in our own domestic markets and in world markets including the Soviet.

Net result is obsolescence of much of major U. S. industry or tremendous unused capacity. Neighbor Mexico uses American aid, for example, to build 22 steel mills, exporting to U. S. markets about 20,000 tons in 1962 compared to 65 tons two years earlier. U. S. steel capacity is only 60 percent used.

It is no wonder that $800 million has been slashed thus far off the proposed Aid Bill. It would not be surprising to see a coalition of American thinking urge further reduction of economic diplomacy that shuts down U. S. industry, slows economic growth and contributes to unemployment.

Let's Boost Blood Program

The Milam County blood program needs a real boost to recover the quota of 70 pints per bloodmobile visit.

The program is hoping to get 225 donors for the November 29 bloodmobile visit to Milam County. This is three times the normal number in Cameron.

But the 70 - pint quota has not been reached in recent visits to Cameron. So the additional pints are greatly needed.

This program can be supported by dozens of people who have not yet given a pint as well as by those who have given quarts of the precious stuff.

It is a valuable service that saves lives daily in Cameron and other Milam hospitals. Join the effort to sustain this program. Pledge to give your blood, just a pint of it, November 29.

INSPECTION IN PROGRESS . . . SERVICE AS USUAL

The super-size "gadget" pictured above is a turbine rotor . . . a key part of the complex machinery with which Texas Power & Light Company produces electric energy. The blades in this turbine are made of special steel to withstand the 1,000-degree steam passing through at enormous speed under high pressure. It's undergoing a periodic inspection, but, because TP&L has invested in adequate reserve capacity, not a single one of the Company's more than 400,000 customers is without electric service because of the operation.

Today, through phenomenal developments in the art of producing and supplying electricity, service interruptions are kept to a minimum. Improved equipment . . . adequate reserves . . . interconnection of facilities between investor-owned companies to allow for interchange of power in emergencies . . . automation . . . and other innovations have continuously improved the dependability of electric service and kept costs low.

In the future, as in the past, you can be confident of adequate, dependable and economical electric power through the constant effort of TP&L to improve the art of producing and supplying this essential service.

Sen. Crump Was 1 Day Governor

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN - Now you can call him "Governor Crump!"

Sen. Louis Crump of San Saba has poined the list of "Governor for a Day" honorees. Friends of the popular senator poured into Austin until it practically was 'San Saba Day" at the Capitol.

It is customary for Texas' top-ranking State Senator to take over the reins of government when both the governor and the lieutenant governor are out of the state. That happened Thursday.

Among the hundreds of people coming to call on "Governor" and Mrs. Crump in the Capitol, and during an evening reception in the Driskill Hotel, were some 200 who drove from San Saba in a caravan of cars.

More than 15 State Senators were on hand, together with a goodly number of other elected state officials, to congratulate the 47-year-old attorney. Crump, now in his fifth year of office, represents an 18,000-square-mile district containing 18 counties. That's an area bigger than many of our states.

Featured speakers at the testimonial dinner, during which the modest Crump was regaled with tributes and gifts, were Dolph Briscoe Jr. of Uvalde, president of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo. Hardeman is from a neighboring disdrict that is even larger than Crump's.

Crump issued one proclamation. It commended the screwworm eradication program. He urged Texans to continue supporting it. He said the program reduced infestations from weekly totals exceeding 2,000 a year ago to an average of 300 per week this fall.

OIL PRODUCTION UP - Texas Railroad Commission has increased allowable oil production for December to 28 per cent of potential. This will permit Texas oilmen to produce more oil during 1963 than any year since 1959.

Commission's new order set December daily allowable production at 2,856,214 barrels. November's was 2,808,183 under a 27.5 percent order.

Total 1963 production is estimated at 918,000,000 barrels. That's the highest annual figure since the 944,400,000 barrels in 1959. Partial credit for the increase was given to success of the percentage factor adopted in place of the shut-in day method of Commission calculation on production last January.

AGENCIES PICKED - Board of Advisors of the Texas Tourist Development Agency has selected advertising firms which will compete for the State's first $200,000 travel promotion account.

They are: White and Shuford of El Paso; Goodwin, Dannenbaum, Littman and Wingfield of Houston; Pitluk Advertising Agency of San Antonio; Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborne of Dallas; McCann-Erickson of Houston; and Fuller, Smith and Ross of Fort Worth.

At a Board meeting to be held here January 16-17 each agency will submit a detailed presentation showing how it proposes to advertise Texas' tourist attractions. State contract will go to the agency whose presentation is judged best by the Board.

NEW LEGISLATORS - Recent special elections sent three new members to the State House of Representatives.

Dallas picked two more Republicans, Jack Sampsell and Hughes Brown, leaving Ben Atwell as the only Democratic House member from Big D.

Travis County voters selected a young Democrat, Bob Armstrong. He came out first in a big field, by a narrow margin, over Republican Pete Hord. No runoffs are necessary in the legislative contests.

DROUGHT HURTS DAIRYMEN Agriculture Commissioner John White said denial by railroads of an urgent request for freight-rate reductions on hay to be shipped into drought disaster areas "squeezed out the last hope of our dairymen to stay in business during the present emergency."

"Without a freight rate reduction to ease their costs during the next three critical months," says White, "our dairymen apparently must look for an increase in raw-milk prices, or be forced out of business."

White said hay costs have increased from 75 to 100 percent over normal and probably would go higher due to high freight charges on bringing in hay from other parts of the country.

Figures Ways For Congress To Vote Itself A Raise Without Losing

Dear editar:

While I have never been able to work out a plan whereby both football teams can win the same game and nobody leaves the stadium broken-hearted, I haven't given up, and to rest my mind from the problem I have been working on an idea where Congress can vote itself a raise without getting beat.

As I understand it, there's a move on to increase the salaries of numerous government officials, on the grounds you have to pay them about as much as they could make in private life or they'll quit and we'll have to take on second-rate people, although this doesn't always work out that way. For example. I've heard it argued that if we increase the pay of state legislators, say, we'll get a better quality of men, but whenever a state does, it seems to me the same men turn up running again.

At any rate, in the Washington salary problem, there's a proposal to increase Congressmen and Senators' pay by $10,000 a year, and a lot of the members to along with this, except for one thing. While they figure they're worth $10,000 a year more than the $22,000 they're getting now, they'd rather have the $22,000 than nothing, which is what they're afraid they'd get if they voted themselves a raise and got voted out of office. On the other hand, a $10,000 raise sure looks tempting.

They might have to change the rules a little, but I have worked out a plan where they can swing it.

Let the Senate vote the House a raise. Every member of the House can then rise to oratorial heights and denounce this as a gross waste of taxes and send copies of the speeches back home. The Senate though should remain firm and ramrod the raise through. Then the House could vote the Senate a raise, and every member of the Senate could make a speech against it for home consumption.

There's more than one way to skin a cat.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Does your pasture furnish feed and exercise or just exercise and fresh air?

Outdoors In Texas

By Vern Sanford

Keeping warm out on the deer stand, or in a duck blind, or fishing a lake or bay in the dead of winter, can be something of a real problem to the outdoorsman.

One reason some outdoorsmen feel the cold so intensely is that they begin the day wearing too much clothing. I know it sounds ridiculous - getting cold because of too much clothing - so let me explain.

You start the morning off wearing enough apparel to keep you warm at the time. But actually you've got on too many clothes.

To begin with you feel the cold more because you've just come out of a warm house. In getting breakfast and dressing you've done relatively little physical exercise to generate body heat.

Now let's take a duck hunt as an example. In addition to woolen underyear, you're bundled up in a sweatshirt, a zip-up jacket and a heavy parka. You feel real comfortable at the time.

EXERCISE WARMS BODY

Then the work begins. You trudge out to the blind lugging a gun, shells and sacks of decoys. You're doing a lot of physical exercise so pretty soon you've worked up a good sweat.

Then you step back into the blind for the hunt. There you're doing very little to generate body heat. So pretty soon you start feeling the cold because you're wet with perspiration.

You can avoid this cold by not wearing so many heavy clothes.

Don't wear the heavy coats when you're putting out the decoys.In omitting this heavy outer apparel you'll avoid working up a sweat. Put on the extra coats only when you actually need them.

Many outdoorsmen complain of cold feet. There's a way to avoid that, too. You can wear insulated socks inside your boots or waders. Or put on a pair of lightweight dress socks and then some heavy woolen socks.

WEAR LOOSE BOOTS

Be sure your foot doesn't fit too snug inside the boot. A tight fit results in cutting down blood circulation in your feet. And with poor circulation you'll feel the chill.

Waist-high waders of course offer more protection against water than do hip boots. But waders can be mighty cold if you're not careful.

Personally I prefer boot-foot waders over the stocking-foot type.

With the stocking-foot type, you have to wear tennis shoes or wading shoes. To keep the waders from slipping inside the shoes you must tie the laces rather tight. If you do a lot of walking in thick mud, the laces generally are tied around the ankle. This is to keep the mud from pulling the shoes off. Such a tight bind across the instep or around the ankles cuts blood circulation. Result - cold feet.

When your foot has room within the boot, you can warm your feet by wiggling your toes to stimulate circulation. But just try to wiggle your toes in a boot that fits snug tight. It's the same way with your dress shoes. Your feet get colder in tight shoes than they do in loose-fitting ones.

WEAR CAPS WITH FLAPS

What about cold ears? A cap with ear flaps is a must. But don't tie those flaps down snug when you're working or exercising vigorously. Heat generated by your body will make your head and ears wet with sweat. Let the flaps hand loose during periods of activity - then tie them down.

It's a good idea to carry along a towel. It's great for wiping the sweat from your head and face. Also if you have room in your hunting coat, take along a spare hunting cap. It will be welcome after a heavy downpour.

Coffee, hot tea and hot chocolate are wonderful for restoring body heat in those hours of inactivity when you're waiting for the ducks or deer to show. But don't take alcoholic beverages. The "snake bite" juice may warm you when you drink it, but it slows down blood circulation and shortly you'll get colder than ever.

But more important than that - alcohol and gun powder just don't mix.

You also can build up body heat by munching a chocolate bar, or by eating an apple or an orange.

Gloves are a must in cold weather. But get the right kind to suit the purpose. Leather gloves are okay for the deer hunter who has little occasion to stick his hands in water. Gloves should be loose fitting so the one on your trigger hand can be slipped off in a hurry.

Leather gloves are no good for duck hunting or fishing. They get wet easily and soak up a lot of water. Then when you dry them out, they'll shrink and get stiff.

For working around water get cotton gloves that have been rubberized. Again they should be large enough so you can slip them on and off easily.

If possible, skip shaving the day before you make that cold weather hunting or fishing trip. That stubble on your face offers some protection against cold and it will help prevent face chapping.

As an extra precaution, take along a change of clothes and leave them in the car. You never know when you'll get caught in a rain squall or perhaps take an unexpected dunking.

Don't let cold weather spoil your outdoors enjoyment. Dress right, and you'll hardly notice the cold.

Mrs. Lydia Cooper is visiting in San Antonio this week.

Take Your Problems To Church This Week

A Convincing Fact

Frequent facing of facts is good for you. Here is a silent one. The first law of life on earth and the one upon which a truly successful life depends is "LOVE THY NEIGHBOR." This is not easy for it means also love of your enemies, those who are repellant to you and those who use you wrongfully. It is a big order!

However, it can be done if you work at, pray and strive for it. The Church can be an invaluable aid in speeding the day when you can say, "I love my neighbor." Immediately someone points out that there are many who attend church regularly who do not carry out this commandment. True, and there are also many who go through college without gaining an education. It is there to be had, nevertheless. Attending the church of their faith has helped many to live this commandment and it will help bring all in tune with it who have a sincere desire to attain the goal. If you do not use it, now is the time to face facts, taking these problems to church with you this very week!

4-H CLUB Notes

By Charles W. Henson
Ass't. Milam County Agent

William Reed Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Davis of the Sharp community has recently been named Boy Gold Star Winner.

To be chosen as the most outstanding 4-H club boy of Milam County for the 1963 year Reed had to compile an outstanding record.

For six years he has been active in all phases of 4-H work. Reed has developed leadership ability by holding four different offices in his local club and one office on the 4-H Council His position as an officer certainly is not one of 'title" because he fills the position well by working hard for the betterment of 4-H.

Reed was also named County Winner for his Record Book on Sheep and Wool; Goat and Mohair. His record has been sent to State to compete for State honors in this field.

Currently Reed has no less than six projects. These include Sheep, Swine, Horses, Beef Cattle, Dairy and Poultry. With his projects Reed has won many ribbons; most of these ribbons have been won st State Shows.

Reed is a good example of an outstanding 4-H member.

4-H LEADERSHIP

When boys and girls stay in 4-H Club work through their mid-teens, they usually make notable progess in one or more phases of 4-H activities, according to the National 4-H Service Committee.

One of these categories is leadership development. In this program, members are actually helped by adult leaders to learn the meaning of responsibility, take on extra work and carry out special projects involving the entire club membership.

"The 4-H junior leader works under the guidance of the adult leader," explains Miss Emmie Nelson of the 4-H Service Committee. "These two, with help from the club, jointly determine jobs for the junior leader.

"They begin with familiar tasks and advance to the more difficult ones. These jobs must be challenging, but within the youth's grasp," she adds.

So leaders really are made and not born - in 4-H, that is. At the end of this year, 12 outstanding young people will be honored by their 4-H friends for having the best leadership ability in the 50 states. They will be selected by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Each will receive a $500 college scholarship and expense paid trip to the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago from the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, the program sponsor. In addition, the state winner will enjoy a free trip to the 4-H Congress.

THE HISTORY OF THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving . . . the holiday so rich in memories and meaning to every American. It started in a little colony at Plymouth, in 1621. The Pilgrims had been in the New World nearly a year. The springtime sowing had taken place and the fields had been watched with great anxiety, for the colonists knew that their lives depended on the harvest. The crops were fruitful beyond all expectation. Governor Bradford announced one day late in the fall that they would hold a Feast of Thanksgiving. He sent four men into the forest to shoot wild birds and invited Indians who had been friendly to the strangers. The harvest feast lasted for 3 days!
